Concept Paper Deadline: November 17, 2021

HEALTHY EATING RESEARCH SPECIAL SOLICITATION: COVID-19 AND SOCIOECONOMIC RECOVERY EFFORTS—IMPACTS ON CHILDREN’S HEALTH AND WELL-BEING

BACKGROUND AND PURPOSE

Good nutrition, food security, and a healthy weight are a cornerstone of health and well-being throughout the lifespan, but are foundational during childhood. The COVID-19 pandemic created unprecedented challenges and barriers to these tenets of health, especially among lower-income households and communities of color. The economic impacts of job losses saw soaring rates of food insecurity. Extended child care and school closures meant many children did not have access to nutritious breakfast and lunch meals. Eating and physical activity patterns shifted, and emerging data indicate that many adults and youth in the U.S. have gained excess weight since March 2020.

In an effort to address the impacts of the COVID-19 pandemic on health and well-being, large-scale government investment has been made in health, economic recovery, and the social safety net. In 2020, the U.S. Congress passed four special appropriations laws to assist federal agencies with recovery and provide aid to state and local governments, businesses, and families, including the: (1) Coronavirus Preparedness and Response Supplemental Appropriations Act, 2020; (2) Families First Coronavirus Response Act; (3) Coronavirus Aid, Relief, and Economic Security (CARES) Act; and (4) Paycheck Protection Program and Health Care Enhancement Act. An additional $900 billion emergency COVID-relief package—Coronavirus Response and Relief Supplemental Appropriations Act, 2021—was passed as part of the Fiscal Year 2021 Omnibus Appropriations bill in late 2020, followed by the American Rescue Plan Act (ARPA) in March 2021 to provide additional economic assistance to American workers, families,

HEALTHY EATING RESEARCH PROGRAM

Healthy Eating Research (HER) is a national program of the Robert Wood Johnson Foundation (RWJF) committed to building a Culture of Health through identifying effective strategies to improve children’s nutrition and weight. HER’s mission is to support and disseminate research on policy, systems, and environmental strategies that promote healthy eating among children and advance nutrition and health equity. The program goals are to:

- 1) build a research base for policy, systems, and environmental strategies that advance health and nutrition equity in the areas of healthy food access and security, diet quality, and healthy weight;
- 2) foster a vibrant, inclusive, interdisciplinary field of research and a diverse network of researchers; and
- 3) communicate research findings to accelerate policy, systems, and environmental changes that promote healthy eating and advance nutrition and health equity.

HER issues calls for proposals (CFPs) to solicit scientifically rigorous, solution-oriented proposals from investigators representing diverse disciplines and backgrounds. To learn more about the program, applicants are encouraged to visit the Healthy Eating Research website at www.healthyeatingresearch.org.

small businesses, and industries.¹ Many of these policies have the potential to significantly reduce poverty, thereby impacting child health and well-being. To date, little research has been done on relationships between nutrition, obesity, and food security in families and policies related to poverty reduction, economic resources, and housing security. The current context provides us with an important opportunity to build this evidence base.

This CFP aims to fund research on how COVID-19-related relief and recovery policies and programs impact child health and well-being. We are interested in understanding how social and economic programs and policies related to poverty reduction—such as financial payments to families, income assistance programs, housing assistance or housing security programs, and increased access to social services—impact child obesity, diet quality, food security, and other relevant child and family health outcomes among lower-income and families of color. Evidence generated through this special solicitation should be timely and policy-relevant, and aimed towards identifying equitable policies and programs.

TARGETED AGE GROUPS, PRIORITY POPULATIONS, AND TOPIC AREAS

The target population is children (0 to 18) and families in the United States, with high priority on those who are at highest risk for poor nutrition and obesity, specifically lower-income families and racially and ethnically diverse populations (e.g., Black, Latinx, American Indian/Alaska Native, Asian American, Native Hawaiian, and Pacific Islander).

The COVID-19 recovery plans, like the CARES Act or ARPA, provide a unique opportunity for researchers to examine how or whether economic or social policies impact family and children's health, nutrition, weight, or food security status. These could be policies directly focused on food and nutrition (e.g., nutrition assistance programs), or indirectly related such as improved income supports (e.g., child tax credits, increasing minimum wage), paid family leave, housing support, and healthcare access (e.g., Medicaid provisions). Examples of research topics include (but are not limited to):

- Relationships between affordable housing/housing security and indicators of child health, including food security.
- Impacts of increased benefits or social services for families (e.g., childcare subsidies, universal free meals) on disposable income and diet quality.
- Impacts of COVID-19 relief provisions on racial/ethnic or geographic disparities in health outcomes, such as diet and weight, among children and families.
- Identify structural barriers, facilitators, or unintended consequences of COVID-19 relief provisions at federal, state, or local levels for achieving improvements in child obesity, diet quality, food security, or other child health outcomes.
- Explore how funding for food/nutrition supports in the COVID-19 relief packages specifically impact family/child poverty, given poverty is a risk factor for obesity.

¹ More information on each of these policies can be found in the FAQ document for this CFP.

2021 Call for Proposals

Concept Paper Deadline: November 17, 2021

All proposed studies must have a clear impact on children and families in the U.S. and have the potential to reduce inequities related to child health and well-being. Studies must have a link to child nutrition, diet quality, weight, or food insecurity, but can also include other child health indicators. Studies must have a clear, data-driven, and testable research question with a rigorous study design. A variety of research designs and analyses, including mixed methods and linkages of existing data sources, can be used to answer research questions.

TOTAL AWARDS

Approximately $1.75 million will be awarded as part of round 1 of this CFP, with each award up to a maximum of $250,000 and 18 months in duration. Proposals requesting lower budget amounts and shorter periods (e.g., 12 months) are strongly encouraged.

Awards will be made from Duke University to the principal investigator's home institution. Indirect costs (up to 12% for U.S. colleges/universities and hospital or health systems; up to 20% for nonprofit organizations; and 0% for for-profit organizations or government entities) are included in the total project awards per RWJF budget guidelines.

ELIGIBILITY CRITERIA

- Applicant organizations must be based in the United States or its territories.
- Awards will be made to organizations, not to individuals.
- Preference will be given to applicants that are either public entities or nonprofit organizations that are tax-exempt under Section 501(c)(3) of the Internal Revenue Code and are not private foundations or Type III supporting organizations. Additional documentation may be required by Duke University.

SELECTION CRITERIA

Concept Papers will be reviewed by HER leadership, RWJF senior staff, and external expert reviewers. Concept Papers will be evaluated based on the rationale of the project, strength of the research question and aims, strength and feasibility of the research design, alignment with the goals and topics described in this CFP, balance in topic areas, and potential to target the age groups and priority populations as described above.

Invited Full Proposals will be reviewed by at least three external reviewers (with relevant research, content area, and/or policy expertise), HER leadership, and RWJF senior staff. Final funding decisions are made by RWJF leadership. Full Proposals will be evaluated based on:

- 1) Importance and relevance of study aims, hypotheses, methods, and outcomes
- 2) Use of a clear theoretical framework, conceptual model, or rationale

2021 Call for Proposals

Concept Paper Deadline: November 17, 2021

- 3) Scientific rigor of proposed research, sampling approach and effect sizes needed, data collection and analytic methods, and data sources
- 4) Research qualifications and experience of the investigator(s) and appropriateness of disciplines and perspectives represented
- 5) Appropriateness of proposed budget and project timeline, including the realistic feasibility of completing the project within the specified funding period
- 6) The approach for communicating, disseminating, and translating research findings to advocates, decision-makers, policymakers, and community members, if applicable

RWJF EQUITY, DIVERSITY, AND INCLUSION COMMITMENT

The Robert Wood Johnson Foundation is committed to building a Culture of Health that provides everyone in America a fair and just opportunity for health and well-being. Achieving this goal requires focus on equity, diversity, and inclusion. To that end, the Foundation is committed to fostering diverse perspectives, recognizing that individuals' perspectives are shaped by a host of factors, such as their race, ethnicity, gender, physical and mental ability, age, socioeconomic status, gender identity and expression, sexual orientation, familial status, education, religion, legal status, military service, political affiliation, geography, and other personal and professional experiences.

While the presence of diverse perspectives alone is not sufficient, the Foundation is also committed to creating inclusive environments where all individuals are encouraged to share their perspectives and experiences. RWJF believes that only through valuing our differences and similarities, and remaining vigilant in advancing equity, will we be able to maintain an equitable workplace and actively pursue equity in all aspects of our work. RWJF is committed to being continuous learners and working alongside others to cultivate equity, diversity, and inclusion.

USE OF GRANT FUNDS

Grant funds may be used for project staff salaries, consultant fees, data collection and analysis, meetings, supplies, project-related travel, and other direct project expenses, including a limited amount of equipment essential to the project. If the grantee is a public charity, funds may also be used to cover indirect costs to support the applicant's general operations. In keeping with RWJF policy, grant funds may not be used to support clinical trials of unapproved drugs or devices, to construct or renovate facilities, for lobbying, for political activities, or as a substitute for funds currently being used to support similar activities.

HOW TO APPLY

Applications for this solicitation must be submitted electronically via the RWJF online system.

To apply for this special solicitation, visit this link and click the "Apply Online" link.

2021 Call for Proposals

Concept Paper Deadline: November 17, 2021

If you have not already done so, you will be required to register at my.rwjf.org before you begin the application process. Applicants should log in to the system and familiarize themselves with online submission requirements well before the final submission deadline. Program staff may not be able to assist all applicants in the final 24 hours before the submission deadline. There are two phases in the application process:

Phase 1: Concept Paper

All applicants must submit: 1) a concept paper narrative of up to three pages (1.5 line spacing) describing the study; and 2) bio sketches for key personnel. Applicants must follow the instructions and use the templates provided in the online system.

Phase 2: Full Proposals (if invited)

Selected Phase 1 applicants will be invited to submit a full proposal narrative of up to 15 pages (1.5 line spacing) accompanied by a budget and budget narrative and additional supporting documents. Applicants must follow the instructions and use the templates provided in the online system.

Please see the section below for a complete list of key dates and deadlines for the two phases.

Late Submissions

Per RWJF policy, HER will accept only those proposals that are completed/submitted at the time of the deadline. Because one of our Guiding Principles is to treat everyone with fairness and respect, RWJF's deadline policy applies to all applicants. Applicants are expected to notify the program administrator immediately if experiencing difficulty with the online proposal system that may interfere with a timely submission. To do so, click on the "Contact Us" link found in the "Resources" area on the left side of most screens within the online proposal site. We encourage you to submit your proposal in advance of the deadline so that any unforeseen difficulties, e.g., technical problems, may be addressed well before the deadline.

RWJF and HER do not provide individual critiques of proposals submitted. RWJF will make all final grant decisions.

KEY DATES AND DEADLINES

- September 29–November 17, 2021 (3 p.m. ET)
RWJF online system available to applicants to submit concept papers.
- November 17, 2021 (3 p.m. ET)
Deadline for receipt of concept papers. Those submitted after the deadline will not be reviewed.*

2021 Call for Proposals

Concept Paper Deadline: November 17, 2021

- December 20, 2021
Applicants notified whether they are invited to submit a full proposal.
- February 16, 2022 (3 p.m. ET)
Deadline for receipt of invited full proposals. Those submitted after the deadline will not be reviewed.*
- May 2022
Notification of finalists.
- June 2022
Awards begin.

*All proposals for this solicitation must be submitted via the RWJF online system. If you have not already done so, you will be required to register at my.rwjf.org before you begin the application process. All applicants should log in to the system and familiarize themselves with online proposal requirements well before the final submission deadline. Staff may not be able to assist all applicants in the final 24 hours before the submission deadline.
